

Robins sing, bells ring

If the robin sings this year

Will it be for you and me?

If the bells ring out this year

Will they tell us we are free?

If the snow falls thick this year

Will it cover all our woes?

If the frost is rhymy white this year

Will it tingle at your toes?

If the stars are shining bright this year

Will they show us what to do?

If the berries are so red this year

Will it signify to you

That if the bullets fly this year

Not only berries will be red

And if the bombs still fall this year

So many more will not be fed.

Come robins sing to bring us cheer

Come bells ring an end to fear

Come snow and frost, bright and clear

World live in peace this year?
